

Activating your NUI Galway Campus Account

All registered students of St. Angela's College are also registered students of NUI Galway.

This entitles you to use all NUIG student services including the library. You must activate your NUIG account before you can use the online library services.

The below link will take you to the activation page where you will log in with a default password, select three security questions, and create your own new unique password.

For more information about the NUIG campus account service click here.

Contact CASS with problems servicedesk@nuigalway.ie or ring them at phone: 091 495777

Step One: Enter your student ID number (located on your St. Angela's Student ID card) and enter the initial default password of

galwayDDMM

where DDMM is the day and month of your date of birth.

Step Two: Select three security questions and answers. If you forget your password in the future, you will be asked one of these questions before you can reset the password.

Step Three: Establish your own unique password which you will use from now on to log in to your NUIG campus account.

PLEASE NOTE:

There may be delays in the NUI Galway registration process and not all students will have their NUIG registration completed at the same time. This will affect your ability to activate your NUIG Campus Account.

Contact the St. Angela's Registrar's Office with any queries concerning your course registration.
