Programme Overview

In this module students will explore the possibilities of the intertwined structures of textiles through constructed textiles as a design enquiry approach to develop a design direction. The module will introduce Adobe illustrator and Photoshop and develop practical CAD skills. The second brief focuses on exploring the possibilities of the flat printed surface enhanced by form and embellishment. The fashion processes of draping fabric on the human form is enhanced by manipulating and embellishing textile processes as a design enquiry approach to develop a design direction. Along with advancing research and design development skills participants will arrive at refined fashion and textile outcomes.
